Also consider the context and what information is needed in a given context:
When I'm doing more advanced modifications I'm likely to need more info about macros and stuff. Something not yet integrated in our set of interactions. This Is a regular task which is not at all suported by our interface. Mainly because we treat them as navigation items and we are not particulary good in providing great information architecture. Of course, this is a behaviour pattern of a user somewhere between intermediate and expert. Nontheless we should thing about how to support this.

☐ Allow non WikiWord for the new topic name
It's usually best to choose a WikiWord for the new topic name, otherwise automatic linking may not work. Characters not allowed in topic names, such as spaces will automatically be removed.

▶ Topic parent:

RethinkingTopicInteraction   Pick from a list

▶ Use template:

Default template   View templates

Also consider the context and what information is needed in a given context:
When I'm doing more advanced modifications I'm likely to need more info about macros and stuff. Something not yet integrated in our set of interactions. This Is a regular task which is not at all suported by our interface. Mainly because we treat them as navigation items and we are not particulary good in providing great information architecture. Of course, this is a behaviour pattern of a user somewhere between intermediate and expert. Nontheless we should thing about how to support this.

Motivation

Proposee	Curriculum Vitae	Proposer	Seconder
Kenneth Lavrsen	Long term release manager for (tm)wiki and Foswiki. Track record of commitment to the project.	Crawford Currie
Andre Ulrich	One of the driving forces behind the association; professional consultant. Track record of commitment to the project.	Isaac Lin
Crafword Currie	Long term release manager for (tm)wiki and Foswiki. Track record of commitment to the project.	Crawford Currie
Micheal Daum	One of the very active developers with many contributions in (tm)wiki and Foswiki; professional consultant.	Ingo Kappler
